

Call for Participation

The Faculty of Law at the British University in Egypt (BUE) is holding its first workshop on Law and Economics in collaboration with the Institute of Law and Economics at Hamburg University (ILE). The workshop will be held on Sunday, 24 March 2019 at the British University in Egypt campus at Sherouk City, Cairo.

The workshop strives to give an introduction to Economic Analysis of the Law in an interactive workshop. The workshop will feature sessions at which scholars and professionals in the area of Law and Economics will be invited to give presentations. After each presentation discussions will be held. This workshop will expose speakers, guests and faculty members to some of the insights Law and Economics can provide in several branches of law and policy areas.

The questions that the workshop is expected to touch on include but not limited to:

- Introduction to Law and Economics
- Why is Law and Economics important?
- How can Economics contribute to the development of legal theory?
- What are the tools employed by Economics to analyze legal rules?
- To what extent economic concepts such as efficiency and market failure can be integrated into legal policy making?
- Contract law and Economics
- Investment Law and Economics
- Law and Economics of Judicial Organizations

Please send an email expressing your interest to participate and details of your paper or presentation to Dr. Alex Atanasov: alex.atansov@bue.edu.eg

The workshop on 24 March 2019 will begin at 9:00 am. There will be no participation fee or any other costs for presenters associated with participating in the workshop.

The Submission Deadline is January 27th 2019
